T U E S D A Y, SEPTEMBER 19, 1769.

L O N D O N, JUNE 28.

IT is reported that colonel Luttrell will, in a few days, accept of a considerable post under the government, by which his seat in parliament will be vacated; and that if Mr. Wilkes should be re-chosen, he will be allowed to take his seat.

Sir William Baker has, it is said, since his coming to town, changed his resolution with respect to resigning his seat as an alderman of London.

JUNE 30. It is said that a great personage, in conversation with a great lawyer a few days ago, expressed himself in favour of Triennial Parliaments.

Captain Fielding is appointed to the command of the Achilles, a guardship at Portsmouth.

JULY 3. The price of rags has fallen, within the last week, twenty per cent. owing, it is said, to the great decrease in the exportation of paper, by the resolutions of the Americans.

JULY 5. Yesterday a court of aldermen was holden at Guildhall, when James Townshend, Esq; was sworn in alderman of Bishopsgate Ward.

Yesterday Messrs. Townshend and Sawbridge, the sheriffs elect, gave bond to serve the said office.

It is said, that two patriotic orators will be called upon, on the meeting of a very numerous body early in the winter, to support what they asserted at a common hall, on a late popular occasion, relating to the proceedings of a certain respectable assembly in the affair of the famous Middlesex election.

The principal authors of the commotions in the island of St. Domingo, are said to be Monf. de Marillac, a planter of great fortune, and M. Belloy, a physician; who got most of the Boston and Virginia remonstrances translated into French, and circulated them amongst the people, in order to excite them to support their liberties, after the example of the British subjects in America.

JULY 7. Yesterday, at 12 o'clock, there was a very numerous meeting of the proprietors of East-India stock, at their house in Leaden-hall street. One of the servants of the house opened the court, by reading the several resolutions of the last meeting up to the present day; which being finished, Sir George Colebrooke, bart. the chairman, rose up, and said, that previous to the business of the present meeting, the Queen East-Indian had arrived from Bengal, and as he brought some favourable accounts, the court of directors had prepared extracts of the letters sent by her, which, if they thought proper, should be read. The proprietors according to this proposal, they were accordingly read, and contained in substance the following particulars: "That the gentlemen deputed to wait on Sujah Dowla, when the last dispatches were sent away, had succeeded so well in their deputation, that they arrived with him, to reduce his army to its former strength, and to put him in a manner to be able to manage himself any further obnoxious to the company's forces; and that, that he came into this settlement so cheerfully, as to company these gentlemen some way back on their return; here, by their influence, he had made an alliance with the King, particular friend of the company's. Further, that the government of Bengal had it in contemplation to enter into an alliance with Tomagee, in opposition to Hyder Ally, in consequence of a proposal from that chief; by which means the company's affairs in Bengal, and the coast of Coromandel, must be highly benefited, by an increase of silver specie, at present much wanted."

After the extracts were read over twice, Sir George Colebrooke led the court, that they were called to assemble this day at the quest of nine proprietors, (Lord Verney, Mr. Burke, and seven others) and hoped that some of the gentlemen who signed the quest, would explain their business. Mr. William Burke then rose, he had, as one, put his name to that paper, to have a bill for the examination of the company's accounts, which were not ready the last meeting. The book-keeper was then sent for, and read over the whole of the accounts, wherein appeared there was a balance in favour of the company of 70 millions seven hundred and thirty-eight thousand pounds. It was then proposed by Mr. Caldwell, what was the balance of the year 1768, and to know the difference between that and the present year. It was accordingly complied with; and the book-keeper reported it to be two hundred and twenty thousand pounds and upwards, besides the additional expence of fortifications.

These matters being now adjusted to the general satisfaction of the court, Mr. Ramsay made a proposal concerning the directors, on account of the general disagreement last meeting, on the appointment of three supervisors to be sent out to India, viz: Mr. Vanstarr, Mr. Sraffon, and Mr. Ford. That a present question should be put, (which he supported by several reasons) Whether the power, instead of being vested in three, should not be in one, and that the other two should act in subordinate capacities? This was spoken to, and replied to, by several gentlemen, both for and against, for near two hours, which afterwards gave rise to another question, on Mr. Ramsay's withdrawing his, Whether the sending out supervisors, was at this time necessary? Or, if it were, whether they should not be appointed by ballot? This opened a fresh debate, which was contested, for a long time, with great spirit by both parties. The speakers on this occasion were: Sir George Colebrooke, Mr. Spillivan, Mr. Vanstarr, Sir Thomas Robinson; Governor Johnstone, Mr. William Burke, Mr. Caldwell.

India stock was done at 242, for the opening before the arrival of the last ships from India; since which it has got up to 249 and 250. Many lame ducks are expected on this occasion.

The Paris gazette which arrived this day mentions, that the Duke de Lauzun had brought the French King the agreeable news, that the whole island of Corsica had entirely submitted to his forces under the Count de Vaux, who acquaints the King that the Chief of the Rebels, (Paoli) had left the island, having embarked on the 13th of June, with three of his companions, at Porto Vecchio, on board a small vessel bearing English colours; and that advice had been received at Corsica that the above vessel had safely arrived at Leghorn. The Count assures his Majesty, that in the whole expedition, from the commencement of hostilities, he has had only eleven officers and eighty private men killed, and twenty officers and two hundred soldiers wounded.

JULY 8. Yesterday the Earl of Chatham attended the levee at St. James's, after which he had a private audience with his Majesty, which lasted about half an hour; afterwards dined at Earl Temple's house in Pall-Mall, and returned in the evening to Hayes.

JULY 10. We hear that James Boswell, Esq; received a letter on Friday last from the brave Pacha Paoli, informing him of his safe arrival at Leghorn, and that he is expected soon to be in England.

The number of negro slaves battered for in one year (1768) on the coast of Africa, from Cape Blanco to Rio Congo, by the different European nations, amounts as follows: Great Britain, 53,100; British Americans, 6,300; France, 23,500; Holland, 11,300; Portugal, 8,700; Denmark, 1,200; in all 104,100, bought by barter for European and Indian manufactures, chiefly at 15l. sterling each, amounting in sterling money to 1,561,500l. Letters from Pisa mention, that Lord Pembroke and several other persons of distinction, went from Florence to Leghorn to visit the famous Paoli; and that the French, notwithstanding their assertions, had actually lost near 12,000 men at Corsica.

It is said proper measures are pursuing to secure to a certain person his pension: For as he received it upon condition of resigning all public employments, he must, had not such a prudent step been taken, have resigned it upon his meddling again with public affairs.

JULY 11. The following authentic letter, dated June 9, is written by Hannibal Restino, secretary to general Paoli, from Monte Petrosio, to his brother at Leghorn:

"My dear Brother,
"I have ventured to acquaint you by one of our friends, that we expect this night to settle the method of our embarkation. We are here, to the number of 537, entirely surrounded by 4000 of the French army. Our general never shewed himself greater than in the midst of his misfortunes; he animates us by his example, and consoles us by his discourse, continually. Yesterday he mounted upon a little eminence, in the middle of our camp, and made the Speech, which I have enclosed. We are all resolved to die with our arms in our hands, if we do not succeed in escaping to some other place, where we hope to wait till a change of circumstances revives our expectation, and again restores us to our country."

PAOLI'S SPEECH.
"At length, my brave companions, we are reduced to the utmost extremity!—That dreadful event, which neither a war of thirty years, the rancorous hatred of the Genoese, nor the forces of divers European Powers could bring about, is now produced by the effects of gold alone! Our unfortunate countrymen deceived, and led away by their corrupted chiefs, are even going themselves to embrace the chains, which are forging for them! Our once happy constitution is overthrown! Most of our friends are either killed, or made prisoners, and for us, who have had the misfortune to live to see, and weep over the ruin of our country, what remains?—Nothing but a sad alternative, death or slavery! Can any of you, to lengthen out a short remnant of wretched life, become slaves to injustice and oppression! Alas, my dear friends, let us reject with scorn that shameful thought! As neither the gold nor the splendid offers of France have had power to tempt me to dishonour, I trust the success of their arms has not made me contemptible. After the reputation of having conquered, nothing is more estimable, than a glorious death! Let us then lose no time, but either force our way, sword in hand, through the ranks of our enemies, and in a distant land wait for happier times, to avenge our country's wrongs, or terminate our honourable career, our short remains of life, by dying gloriously, as we have lived!"

JULY 12. It is now positively said, that Lord Chatham has strongly recommended a dissolution of the present parliament, but was much opposed by a great personage.

It is generally believed the present ministry will continue, notwithstanding every effort to remove them, as they are promised all the countenance authority can give.

We hear, there is likely to be as great a contest in every county in England this summer, between the petitioners and non-petitioners, as ever there was at a general election of members; and, it is expected, that as much money will be expended on the occasion by one side: It is given out, that in some counties, where the petitioners cannot be prevented from carrying their point, counter addresses will be framed on the other side, and sent up by way of balance: And, we hear, it is ordered, that all justices of the peace be very active and vigilant on this important occasion.

Yesterday a committee of the Supporters of the Bill of Rights dined at the London Tavern, after which Mr. Sergeant Glynn took the chair, when several letters were read, and divers subscriptions, received from different parts of this kingdom, were entered into the society's books.

Bets are four to one, at the west end of the town, that Alderman Trecothick will be Lord Mayor for the ensuing year, and Mr. Wilkes for the year following.

A letter from Balila, dated June 19, says, "We this moment received the news, that the principal chiefs of the nation, such as Mess. Abatucci, who had the rank of lieutenant colonel, the Captains Gentili, John Charles Salicetti, and others, have submitted; and that the Count de Vaux has not only granted them the King's pardon, but received them with great favour, and offered them honourable employments."

The four Swedish senators, who were dismissed in 1766, and have been now invited by the states to resume their seats, have returned thanks for the offer, and at the same time signified their resolution never more to return into the senate.

It is said, a certain obnoxious military person will shortly be appointed to one of the American governments, in the room of the present governor, who has desired leave to come home.

We hear from Vienna, that the Turkish army, consisting of above 170,000 men, has penetrated into Great Poland, and that a putred fever rages so violently among the Janissaries, that they die every day in great numbers.

Last Friday died, at his palace of Hamilton, the Most Noble George-James Duke of Hamilton, Chateaufort, and Brandon; Marquis of Douglas and Clydesdale; Earl of Angus, Arran, Lanerk, and Cambridge; Lord Avon, Aberbrothock, Polmont, Macanshire and Innerdale; Baron Dutton; Hereditary Keeper of his Majesty's palace of Holyroodhouse. He was born February 18, 1755, and succeeded the late Duke, James, his father, January 17, 1758. He is succeeded in his estate and honours by his brother, Lord Douglas Hamilton, now Duke of Hamilton.

JULY 13. Lord Chatham, it is said, when in town, sent a card to Alderman Trecothick, who was with his Lordship near two hours, during which time his Lordship assured him, that the American affairs were in a fair way of being settled to the satisfaction of all parties; and that not only a change of men, but of measures also, would soon take place.

Letters from Constantinople advise that provisions and particularly corn and rice, were never known before to dear in that city, in the memory of man; and that the government in order to prevent sedition, which is there most commonly the consequence in times of scarcity, had taken the precaution to double all the guards.

By private advices from Riga we learn, that her Imperial Majesty the Czarina has, for this month past, given orders for the fitting out a very considerable fleet, which is to consist of 28 ships of the line, besides frigates, bomb-ketches, transports, &c. and that Peter Anderson, Esq; Governor of Constat, and Admiral in the Russian service (though he only ranks as Lieutenant in the English navy) is to have the command of it. The destination of this fleet is unknown, but from the number of land forces that are to be put on board it, the French are in some apprehensions about it, not doubting, perhaps, that her Imperial Majesty may invade some of the French dominions in the Mediterranean. By other advices from Petersburg we are given to understand, that a great number of land forces are actually embarked on board several little vessels built on purpose for the navigation of the river Don, and that they have orders to sail into the Euxine sea, by way of Azoph; also that they have twelve praemes along with them, on each of which are mounted 25 pieces of stout cannon. This was the plan of the famous Count Lacy, in the last war, who then commanded the Russian army.

Yesterday evening at six o'clock, the ballot ended at the East-India house, on the following question, viz. "That this court do agree with the Court of Directors, that it is necessary at this time to send out a commission with extraordinary powers to regulate their affairs in India?" when scrutineers were appointed, and at 7 o'clock they made their report, viz. For the question, 279; against it, 239; majority 40. The court then proceeded upon other business. Mr. Vanstarr, Mr. Sraffon, and Col. Ford, are the gentlemen appointed to go to the East-Indies on the above commission; and, we hear, they will embark in about three weeks.

JULY 14. Yesterday the Earl and Countess of Chatham came to town and were at court, where they stayed some time, their Majesty's being both present. His Lordship afterwards paid a visit to the Duke of Grafton, the Earls of Hertford and Bristol, dined at Earl Temple's house in Pall-Mall, and in the evening returned to Hayes. The same day there was a Cabinet Council at St. James's.

We hear that the plan for calling in a late popular commoner to assist at the present juncture, was first suggested to a great personage, by an illustrious Lady in Pall-Mall. Others assert, that it was done in consequence of dispatches lately received from abroad.

It is confidently asserted, at the West-end of the town, that the first business to be entered upon at the meeting of parliament, is to take cognizance of several charges alleged against them in two late presented petitions.

We are informed that his Majesty's Governors beyond the Atlantic have so faithfully discharged their duty, by a strict adherence to their instructions, that there is not the least appearance of their being superseded by any fresh appointments.

We now hear that two frigates are appointed to go to India with the supervisors. An John Lindsay, it is said, will be appointed as Commodore to the command of them.

They write from Gibraltar that several Corsican families with their effects, were arrived there in their way to Minorca, where they are going to settle, they not shunning to continue under the oppression of French tyranny in their native country.

Private letters from almost every county in England remark, that there is no other language to be heard from highest to lowest, but petition; petition, petition!

Yesterday a Printer in Rosemary-lane was committed to White-chapel goal by the sitting Justices at the Angel, for printing ballads reflecting on a high Personage, and selling them to two women, who were committed to the Poultry-Compter for singing them on Wednesday.

JULY 15. Notwithstanding all the variety of reports, respecting Lord Chatham, it is an undoubted fact, that his Lordship's appearance at court was by the desire of his Sovereign; and his Lordship's being so honourably called upon, indisputably shews the noble Earl is thought still to have, what Lord Chesterfield, in the rooms at Bath, once publicly said he had, namely, "The clearest head and clearest hands of any in the kingdom."

A certain patriotic Alderman at the West-end of the town has lately, more than once, declared to his friends and enemies, that he will take every step, and will never rest (whilst he has health and power to pursue his favourite plan) till the restoration of annual parliaments shall be constitutionally effected and permanently settled.

A certain Minister was observing, at a great men's table on Wednesday last, that such are the turbulence of the times, he believed he should shortly be tempted to resign—"Your Lordship, replied a certain Baronet, may be perfectly right, for needs must when the Devil drives." "Nay, returned the noble Lord, if the Devil has joined in the opposition, it is time Sir John for us all to decamp, to make room for his friends."

JULY 17. It is said that Lord Rochford and Lord Weymouth had the honour of a long conference with his Majesty on Friday after the levee: And that on Saturday a Cabinet Council was holden at Lord Weymouth's house in Arlington-street, St. James's.

It is said the Right Hon. the Earl of Bristol has recommended a mode of administration that will entirely conciliate the present dissensions subsisting between all parties, and that the same is now under the consideration of a great personage.

It has been remarked that the chief magistrate of this city has a very arduous task to discharge his duty to general satisfaction, because if he refuses to comply with the request of a body of citizens, he is sure to be censured for want of patriotism and spirit; on the other hand, if he does comply, he is charged with being the head of a faction.

It is generally believed, that the late appointment by the directors of the East-India company, of three supervisors for reforming abuses in the company's affairs abroad, will be laid aside, by a ballot of the proprietors on Wednesday next; in order to give place to a new commission, composed of Mr. Vanstarr, Mr. Sraffon, Mr. Ford, and Sir John Lindsay, lately appointed to command his Majesty's ships in India; Mr. Vanstarr, as first in commission, to have, in all cases of equality, the determining voice.

The day for settling the difference on the purchase of East-India stock, is to-morrow; and it is apprehended, besides those already who have retired for the benefit of the air, a greater number than ever were known before will disappear. The differences paid on a former settling, are said to have amounted to no less than twenty millions; and the present contracts are supposed to be equal to any ever before made. India stock was done on Saturday at 250.

We are informed that an affair which has lately made some noise in the world, is as follows: Sir W. M. M., Bart. and Captain M. who lost one of his legs in the late war in Germany, went a few miles in the country, and many days ago, and returned to town very cheerful in the evening, when they adjourned to a coffee-house at the West-end of the town; some words arising there, the Captain threw a glass of wine in Sir W. M. M.'s face, who, on that, struck him on the head with a bra's candlestick, and fractured his skull; of which wound the Captain is since dead, and we hear that Sir W. M. M. is retired to France.

ANDREW HIBBEN,
HAVING removed from the country, has taken the house next door to Mr. John Ross's, near the Government's bridge, where he purpues keeping a FERRY, to carry passengers and horses over to Hobrow, or any other place on that side the river, and has provided proper boats and careful men for that business. As there never was any thing of the kind in Charles-Town, and I have had great encouragement from numbers of people to undertake the same, hopes it may be of some utility to the public, as I am determined to use the utmost assiduity in the business, and thereby hope to meet with encouragement, merit approbation, and give general satisfaction, as I will use my utmost endeavour that persons shall be accommodated with a boat and hands, at a few minutes warning. I have reserved the front room in my house, for the accommodation of passengers to sit down in, while the boat gets ready, that they may not be exposed to wait on the wharf, or walk up and down the streets.—If this undertaking should turn out to be of that utility, which is hoped it may, I flatter myself, that when the Honourable House of Assembly meets again, they will take it into consideration, hear the prayer of a petition, and indulge me with an establishment.
N. B. On the wharf, where the ferry-boat goes from, is opened a lime store, where persons may, from time to time, be served with any large or small quantity of lime, slacked or unslack.
